FOREIGN SERVICE DESPATCH

FROM : AMCONGEN, Hong Kong

620
DESP. NO.

TO : THE DEPARTMENT OF STATE, WASHINGTON.

February 18, 1959
DATE

REF :

For Dept. Use Only	ACTION	DEPT.
	REC'D 2-25	INFO OTHER CIA-10

SUBJECT: Chinese Communist Newspapers Believed Published as of January 1, 1959

This despatch contains a listing of all Chinese Communist newspapers identified by the Consulate General as being published on the mainland as of January 1, 1959. It replaces Current Background No. 478, October 27, 1957, issued by the Consulate General. There is also included a listing of North Vietnam newspapers which are known to the Consulate General. (A list of Chinese Communist university newspapers carried in the previous report has been deleted in this one; no copies of any university newspapers were received during 1958, but it is presumed that practically every college and university has its own student newspaper.)

During 1958 there was a continued blossoming of publications and periodicals in Communist China. This was particularly true in the latter half of the year with the introduction of the commune system, as individual communes are reportedly putting out their own newspapers. Another trend was for some trade journals (e.g. Metallurgy News, Grain Weekly) to change from periodicals to newspapers appearing several times a week.

The attached list contains the names of 982 newspapers, but due to the paucity of information on this subject, this list should not be considered either complete or wholly accurate. For example, it will be noted that the percentage of Kuangtung newspapers appearing on this list is out of all proportion to its size and population, but, presumably, due to its proximity to Hong Kong more of its publications are known. It has also been reported that the public security organ in each province publishes a newspaper, but since these are not mentioned in any lists published by the Chinese Communists nor have copies been received by the Consulate General, they are not included on the list.

The New China News Agency (NCNA) on December 7, 1958, released an article which the Consulate General is unable to check on, but could well be substantially accurate. The article stated: "Nearly all of China's 2,000 counties now have their own newspapers. Most small and medium-sized cities now run newspapers of their own. A rough count in 14 provinces, which have a total of 1,085 counties, showed there were more than 1,000 county papers and over 60 papers run by medium and small cities. A great majority of these were started this year. Fukien Province, which had only 24 local papers in September last year, had 67 in September this year. During the current leap forward in industry and agriculture, circulation of local papers increased rapidly. In most provinces, circulation was estimated at more than double compared with the same period last year. In other provinces, it had increased three to four times. Chekiang papers in Kiangsu Province in September this year had a circulation ten times as great as in September 1957. Now, townships and people's communes are starting their own papers."
